Dear students, parents and staff members of Akshara.

My heartfelt greetings to all of you on the 10th Commemoration Day of the school.

I still vividly remember the day when I visited the school in 2010 when it was taking shape to welcome its students.

And today it has grown to 2000 plus students with multiple subject streams giving full breadth of study options to its students before they move on to college life.

The principal had mentioned several achievements in the Annual school report like the Board results, success in competitive exams like IIT, NEET, Architecture and Design. I congratulate the students, teachers and leadership team on this success.

One of the goals of education is to ensure its students grow up as good citizens of the country. When I say good it does not mean only professional contribution, it is also about being good human beings where they care about their family, local community and the country. These expectations have been documented under fundamental duties in our constitution and I would encourage the teachers to help students understand them and imbibe them. This is necessary for character building as education without virtues is like a flower without fragrance.

My congratulations to Akshara's management on the success achieved in this decade and may this be a stepping stone for higher laurels for the institution in the years to come.
